Moulage

Moulage is a French tailoring technique introduced by Mademoiselle Vionnet. It also known as Draping.

At the time of the French fashion houses, this type of technique represented a true revolution. The pattern, a faithful ally of all seamstresses, was completely ignored and passed directly to packaging.

Making a dress with the moulage technique is as simple as pointing the fabric and cutting it directly on the mannequin.

To achieve a good draping garment it is essential to perfectly know the tailoring techniques and wearability of each garment.

MOOD-BOARD:

Congo has always been my font of inspiration, Congolese traditional wear, in all its varieties, never fails to appeal to the eyes, and is present in all aspects of culture and derives from the natural mixtures of colors found in Congolese nature.

One of the things that always inspired me in my projects was the African fabric, also known as the Wax pattern. The fabric always contains fresh colors and were always pleasant to work with, especially to make a spring-summer collection inspired by fruits , nature or by safari. The Wax is always my favorite choice of fabric to use.
